FLASH NOTE

A new brick in the 2013 wall

The RM315m value for the Putrajaya building project that WCT has just clinched is a nice surprise, arising probably from a wider scope of works. Though net profit contribution is minimal, this news supports our expectation of strong job award prospects in the medium term.

This award does not affect our EPS as it is part of the RM1.5bn-2bn worth of new jobs we have assumed for FY13 and which we continue to believe is within reach. Our target price remains pegged to a 40% discount to RNAV. WCT remains a Trading Buy rather than outperform because of election risks. Potential domestic wins backed RM3.5bn tender book and more land acquisitions could be catalysts. WCT remains one of our top sector picks.

What Happened >

Putrajaya Holdings has awarded WCT a contract for the construction of commercial office buildings in Lot 2C5, Precinct 2, Putrajaya. The contract value is RM315m. The scope of works includes 1) two blocks of commercial office buildings, and 2) two levels of basement carpark. The contract duration is 32 months, with completion expected to be end-2015.

What We Think >

This award is not a surprise as management indicated during the 4Q12 results briefing in May 13 in that it expected to secure a potential building project. However, project value is higher than the RM300m that we expected and was probably due to a wider scope of works. Based on an assumed 7-8% pretax margin, we expect this project to contribute RM8m-9m to net profit in FY13-15. We make no changes to our EPS forecasts as this award is part of the RM1.5bn-2bn worth of new jobs we have assumed for FY13. This job raises outstanding order book to RM4bn.

What You Should Do

Stay invested. This news is positive for contract award momentum in We believe that WCT's prospects for job awards remain strong despite the election risks. The group could bag over RM1bn worth of new projects in the medium term. Other potential projects include RM1bn land civil works for the RRI Land. Meanwhile, new landbank, potentially in the Klang Valley and Penang, anchors the prospects for the group's property division.
